ROOSEVELT CALLED AUTOCRAT IN SENATE

DISCUSSION OF TARIFF TREATY WITH GERMANY AROUSES OUTBURST OF CRITICISM.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—President Roosevelt was declared in the Senate today to be more of an autocrat than Kaiser Wilhelm.

It came about during discussion of the German tariff regulations, which the President, in his message, had sent to Congress, together with a proposed amendment to the statutes to put the agreement into force.

It was pointed out that, although President Roosevelt had not only negotiated the agreement, but had published it to the world last July without consulting either Senate or House.

Emperor William had not only consulted the Reichstag, but had referred the matter to local and national board of trade.

The message was laid before the Senate in executive session, but it was not many minutes before the President's critics forced the doors open.

Then they unlimbered their guns. The debate bore not so much on the message and the agreement as on the President's course.

It was declared that the agreement made changes equivalent to legislation.

It was pointed out that all legislation affecting the tariff must originate under the Constitution in the House of Representatives.

Stress was laid on the fact that the President had not only negotiated the treaty, but that he had given it out as a complete performance, without referring it to the Senate for its action.

Gallinger, Teller, McLaurin, Heyburn and Bacon were chiefly wrought up over such action.

Senator Carter took the position that the order of the President in putting into force the regulations affecting only the administration of customs matters, was permissible under Section 3 of the McKinley law.

The message was referred to the Committee on Finance. In the House the message will be considered by the Committee on Ways and Means.

It is thought by some Senators that a resolution introduced by Senator Gallinger early in the session may have had something to do with the appearance of the message and a request for legislation in the German-American matter at this time. The figures which the Gallinger resolution produced showed quite a reduction in the value of German exports to this country since the regulations were passed and since the system of inspecting consignments was discontinued by United States custom officers and agents.

MICHIGAN TREASURY SCANDAL.

Detroit, Jan. 22.—State Treasurer Frank P. Glazier today forwarded to Governor Warner at Lansing his resignation, accompanied by a lengthy communication denying in detail the governor's charges against him, and making counter allegations against Mr. Warner, whom he charges in effect, was aware of conditions in the Treasurer's Department and also solicited under deposits of State funds for the Detroit United Bank, of which he was vice president.

The charges against Mr. Glazier grew out of the failure of the Chelsea Savings Bank, with $65,000 of State funds on deposit, largely as a result of the heavy loans made to Mr. Glazier and his connections.

Governor Warner calls Mr. Glazier's allegations "mainly untrue."
